

WILD COLORS of SOUTH KOMODO.2020

expedition :: January 13-24, 2020

If you are interested in diving some of Indonesia's most famous reefs – without the crowds – December and January in the South Komodo historically have calm seas, warmer water temperatures, better visibility and fewer crowds!

Can you imagine seeing Cannibal Rock for the complete dive site it is with both natural beauty and abundant marine life large and small. Rodeo Rock is teeming with Anthias and soft coral. Yellow Wall of Texas and Crinoid Canyon both offer steep slopes and mini walls. These sites have everything from tiny ladybug amphipods to pelagic swimming by in the blue. Shimmering schools of Silversides often cascade down the wall on here, creating a frenzy of predatory activity. It's the Komodo not many get to experience!

We will spend 12 days/11 nights and begin our journey from BIMA, boarding the well-travelled traditional phinisi schooner, MSY PINDITO – www.pindito.com -owned by renown Indonesia's explorer Edi Frommenwiler ! He ensures he will put us in the right places in Southern Komodo and hit all the good stuff in between before we head for Maumere.

Join Tanya for an extraordinary opportunity to dive one of Indonesia's Hot Spots. She hopes to enhance your trip with well over 20 years of dive & photographic experience. Pick her brain, look over her shoulder or just do your own thing. Tanya's goal for everyone to get the most out of the experience, lots of focus will be on the identification and photography of the mind boggling array of marine life to be discovered.

With this objective in mind, she is committed to finding the best of the best opportunities available... and have a lot of fun in the process.
